Summer Music Makes its Return to Berkeley

By Eric San Juan

It's not summer in Berkeley Township without music. The Summer Concert Series, which brings free live shows to the town throughout the season, will kick off this June, continuing a tradition that has been rocking residents since 1999.

Since that time, the only bump in the road has been Covid – and even then, town officials found a way to ensure the show went on, albeit with precautions in place.

Shows begin on June 28 and will continue until Berkeley Pride Day, scheduled for September 9.

These events come at no cost to the taxpayer.

"As always, the cost of the summer entertainment is funded by community and business donations," Mayor Carmen Amato said. "These donations fund Berkeley Township's entire Summer Concert Series, our Beach Party, Berkeley Community Pride Day and other summer events. The funds are also raised through the Mayor's Golf Outing, our summer program book, and outdoor stage advertising."

All shows take place Wednesdays at Veterans Park, 489 Bill Zimmerman Jr. Way, unless otherwise noted. The shows will also be emceed by local radio station WJRZ.

The fun begins June 28 at 6pm, with the vocal group Rock N' Rhythm doing Doo-Wop and contemporary to open the show. After that, the 1970s rock-inspired Super TransAm will headline, doing crowd favorites from bands like Queen and Journey.

"In honor of Independence Day, we will have a fabulous fireworks display to close the night," Amato said.

On July 18, local vocal group Jukebox Legends will sing classics from the 1950s and '60s before the Bon Jovi tribute band, Wanted DOA, takes the stage to play hits from the New Jersey favorites.

"The look and sound of this band will make you feel like you're at an actual Bon Jovi concert," Amato said.

On Saturday, August 12, the series moves to White Sands Beach in South Seaside Park, where The Verdict will offer a beach vibe from 5 to 8pm with a mix of reggae and Caribbean music.

will have interactive and educational displays, fundraising events, and more. Families will be able to see fire engines and other gear up close, there will be games and prizes, and other attractions.

The summer concert series will be capped off on September 9 for Berkeley Township Community Pride Day, which will also include a recognition of the 22nd anniversary of the September 11 attacks. The day begins at 2pm with vendors, fundraisers by an array of local nonprofits and community groups, food and handmade products, and more. At 5pm, there will be a ceremony honoring those last on 9/11.

The music begins at 6pm with Stiletto & the Saxman doing Rat Pack classics and popular standards from multiple generations. At 7:30pm, The Infernos Band will close out the Summer Concert Series with crowd favorites from four decades of music. Finally, there will be fireworks at 9pm.

Beyond mere entertainment, the concerts also provide a way for local civic and charitable groups to raise funds. Nonprofit groups are invited to set up stands to sell food at the shows. Serving as food vendors, the proceeds help benefit the organizations, which in turn benefits the community.

“The Mayor and Council would like to take this time to thank our generous sponsors, without whom these concerts would not be possible,” Amato said. “Please come on out for a great summer of entertainment and don't forget to bring a chair!”

Sponsorship opportunities are still available, including on-site advertising. Visit www.BTREC.org under “concerts” for details or call the Recreation Department at 732-269-4456.

This year's Mayor's Golf Outing, which raises money for the annual concert series, is set for Friday, September 29. Participation doesn't just mean a round of golf, it also helps ensure this annual event keeps happening. To play in or sponsor the event, call the Recreation Department.

Former Sand And Gravel Pit To Be Preserved

By Eric San Juan

Efforts to preserve open space in Berkeley continue, this time with a 46-acre former sand and gravel pit off Route 9 becoming the latest addition to the Ocean County Natural Lands Trust's inventory of land.

The announcement was made last month. The land, known to some locals as the "WOBM Pit" because the local radio station used to have property there, is zoned for high density residential units. In fact, it has been the subject of building applications numerous times, some with near or over 100 units, and was once targeted as a potential site for an apartment complex of 190 units. In 2021, senior housing was proposed there.

Residents spoke out against those building proposals, generating over 1,100 signatures on an online petition asking for building to be denied.

That petition proclaimed: "Our water aquifer CANNOT withstand even MORE impervious surface being laid, without proper replenishment due to those roads ... Zoning that was put in place to meet state regulations should NOT be overlooked and overturned simply because enough MONEY was thrown at the issue! We cannot DRINK money, when the water runs dry!"

There were applications in motion to build on the site, but those plans will now come to a halt.

"This preservation is a positive step for all of us," Mayor Carmen Amato said in a written statement. "We appreciate the County's ongoing efforts to preserve land as open space. Working together, this land will now forever be preserved."

The vacant property is often used by off-road vehicles. With the land now becoming part of the Natural Lands Trust, Berkeley police will be more actively monitoring the property for such vehicles.

"This will be a big help in restricting improper use of these lands," said Ocean County Commissioner Virginia Haines. "We appreciate the Township's efforts to reduce the damage we have been experiencing."

Along with this preservation, the township is also donating 18 acres to the county's open space inventory. In exchange, the county will gift five acres to the township, which will be developed into a park.

Established in 1997, the Ocean County Natural Lands Trust was created to purchase and preserve environmentally sensitive lands, natural areas and open space for preservation against development. It collects funds through a 1.2-cent addition to the tax rate, and then directs those funds towards purchasing undeveloped land for the purposes of keeping that land undeveloped.

This is not the only land in Berkeley the trust has preserved in recent years. For example, lots at Good Luck Point and along the Barnegat Branch Trail were vacated and turned over to the Ocean County Natural Lands Trust Fund several years ago to keep flood-prone areas from being built on. Previously township-owned, some of these lots were "repetitive loss" properties that had repeatedly been hit with major flooding. They are also adjacent to already protected lands, making it an easy choice to turn them over to the Natural Lands Trust. These small lots – most were just a fraction of an acre – will now become part of a larger network of preserved open space.

Last year, the town asked the county to purchase 3.5-acre parcel on Route 9 so it can be preserved as open space. The property is located near Cedar Creek and is currently empty – it's lightly wooded, with no buildings – and town officials would like to keep it that way.

And in 2017, the county finalized one of its largest ever purchases: close to 800 acres in Berkeley formerly known as the NJ Pulverizing Tract. The site is now preserved.

Generating about $10 million annually, to date the Trust has protected over 25,000 acres of land in Ocean County, land which is accessible to the public for hiking, bird watching, and other passive use.

BERKELEY RANKED 31st LOWEST OVERALL PROPERTY TAXES IN NEW JERSEY

The Star Ledger & NJ.com printed their annual ranking of which municipalities had the lowest overall property taxes in New Jersey. I am extremely proud to report out of 565 municipalities' in New Jersey, Berkeley is the 31st lowest OVERALL property taxes in the STATE and the 2nd lowest OVERALL property taxes in OCEAN COUNTY. I wish to thank the members of the Township Council, especially Council President John Bacchione, who is the Chairman of the Finance Committee, who has worked with me to keep costs down. The average Berkeley Township homeowner pays less than half of the statewide average property tax bill. That is a significant accomplishment we can all be proud of.

STANDARD & POOR'S RATING AGENCY AFFIRMS THE TOWNSHIP'S BOND RATING at AA-

Standard and Poor's once again affirmed the Township's Bond rating at AA-. This was based on the Township's stable performance and stable economic base. S&P has concluded the Township has strong management with good financial policies and practices in place, along with a strong budgetary performance and very strong liquidity. Once again, we are extremely pleased that S&P has recognized the extreme effort we have made to be financially responsive to our taxpayers despite these difficult economic times. I am proud of what we've done to keep Berkeley Township an affordable place to live, work and retire for all our residents and we plan on keeping it that way.

REMINDER: NIXLE INFORMATION NOTIFICATION SYSTEM

I am pleased that many Berkeley residents have signed up for the Township's information notification system. However, many still have not. This service is in addition to our Reverse 9-1-1 notification system. By signing up for this service, you will receive real-time alerts and advisories directly from the Township. During emergencies when critical information needs to be distributed, all residents will be contacted. To sign up to receive e-mails and text messages, from the Nixle system, you must register. To register your e-mail address and cellular phone number go to our website www.berkeleystownship.org and click the Nixle sign up link. Or, to sign up for text messages only, simply text your zip code to 888777.

SEE SOMETHING - SAY SOMETHING CAMPAIGN

I want to remind residents that if they see something suspicious, they should report it to the police immediately. Our local "See Something Say Something" campaign has consisted of signs placed throughout the town, postings on billboards, web sites and social media. Berkeley Township is 42 square miles with 43,000 residents. Every resident can assist by being the eyes and ears of our community. So if you see something, say something. Many residents are aware of what is going on in their neighborhoods. We all know who should be in our neighborhoods and who shouldn't. If you see someone who looks suspect or a situation that just doesn't look right, please report it to the police. Residents are always free to use the Berkeley Township Police Department "Tip Line".

Residents may either leave their name and address or report the activity anonymously if they feel more secure in doing so. The "Tip Line" is 732-341-1132 ext: 611 or email: detective@btpdnj.org

As always, if you are witnessing a crime in progress, call 9-1-1 immediately.

STRUGGLING WITH FOOD INSECURITY? WE ARE HERE TO HELP!

We know many are struggling with food insecurity during this difficult time. I want to thank Councilwoman Sophia Gingrich for her efforts in providing access for our residents to help with food insecurity. Working with Fulfill, formally the Food Bank Monmouth and Ocean County, on the 4th Friday of every month at the Holiday City Berkeley parking lot, a truck from Fulfill is provided for those residents in need. We are also distributing pre-made individual meals provided by Fulfill, every Tuesday, at the Berkeley Township Recreation Center on Route 9 in Bayville. Reservations are not necessary.

If you have any questions on the food distribution, feel free to call Councilwoman Gingrich at: 732-272-2255.

It is truly an honor to serve as your Mayor. As always, if you have any questions or concerns, feel free to email me at: mayor@berkeleystownship.org or by phone: 732-244-7400 ext.: 1203.

Beware of the scam in which scammers are taking possession of your home by forging a Quit Claim Deed and recording the Deed with the County Clerk's Office. This is not a new scam and is happening all around our country. The Ocean County Clerk's Office offers "Property Alert" which is a system designed to notify you when and if a scammer submits a fraudulent deed to be recorded, naming the scammer the owner of your home. Property Alert is free and takes 1 minute for home owners to sign up. In addition, owners of rental or investment properties can sign up as well and be notified if a scammer tries to record a deed against your rental / investment property. To sign up for the Ocean County Property Alert go to www.oceancountyclerk.com and click the link "Property alert". Oppose Offshore Wind Turbines at Virtual Hearing May 3, 2023

Senator Christopher Connors, Assemblyman Brian Rumpf, and Assemblywoman DiAnne Gove (all R-Ocean) expressed their opposition to offshore wind turbines during an independent hearing on whale and dolphin deaths that was held virtually today by New Jersey Senate Republicans.

The following testimony was submitted into the record on behalf of the legislators:

As coastal legislators, we call on the federal government to leave our oceans alone.

Massive wind turbines drilled into the ocean floor will wreak havoc on the fragile wildlife habitats and marine life that stand to be subjected to this extremely disruptive process.

To be clear, we are not calling for a moratorium.

We are demanding that the proposed ocean wind turbine projects be scrapped for compelling reasons.

Given the size of the turbines and wide scope of area they would cover, how can it not be expected that there will be seriously negative ecological repercussions?

Further, we call on the Murphy Administration and our state government to stop being blindly complicit by promoting this policy which will prove injurious to our oceans.

From the outset, our Delegation has opposed offshore wind turbines for three simple and obvious reasons.

First, the substantial damage that the wind turbines will do to the ocean floor, including wildlife habitats.

Second, people love the Jersey shore as it is renowned for its beautiful seascape without massive wind turbines.

Third, and certainly not last, the very real potential for the commercial and recreational fishing industry to be irrevocably, negatively impacted.

In April of 2021 – before the reports of dead whales and dolphins started filling local headlines – our Delegation wrote to the federal government, specifically the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management, outlining the very serious local concerns about the proposed ocean windfarm off of Long Beach Island.

These serious concerns include, but are certainly not limited to, the potentially negative consequences for New Jersey's fishing and tourism industry which are vital and strong performing components of the state's overall economy.

A copy of our correspondence, to reiterate was sent more than two years ago, has been attached to our testimony.

Then, as now, our Delegation strongly believes that the wind turbine project would prove to be yet another failed experiment in the growing list of pipedream green energy proposals that achieved little at great cost to taxpayers and ratepayers.

For advocates of ocean wind turbines, we are forced to ask: Do you really think that is worth the risk to the environment to produce an infinitesimal amount of energy?

Does combating climate change really require drilling massive holes into the ocean floor?

Our record on this is clear and principled by virtue of the fact that we supported the 2018 bipartisan-supported law that prohibits offshore drilling for oil or natural gas in State waters.

It is important to note that our Delegation takes exception to remarks by government officials who frown upon residents for strenuously objecting to the ocean wind turbines.

These residents rightly hold that the ocean belongs to the people – and is not a natural resource for the government agencies to lease out in huge swaths to major corporations.

Is it not State policy, especially among environmental activists, to increase beach and waterway access?

How will the massive ocean wind turbines not erode, let alone maintain, a standing State policy commitment to beach and waterway access?

It is not a matter of if but to what extent will navigation in proximity to the wind turbines be restricted?

Thousands of acres or perhaps hundreds of square miles will be off limits to the recreational and commercial harvest of fin and shellfish.

Added to that, permitting the wind turbines to be built will present a very real risk to the path of migratory fish, placing these resources beyond the limits of many recreational fishermen.

Parenthetically, how does the leasing of hundreds of square miles of ocean floor to foreign companies reduce our dependence on foreign energy?

Our state should be deeply concerned of what is to follow should the ocean wind turbine projects be approved, and not just in terms of electric rates.

By this, we mean the empty promises made to ratepayers who now find themselves subsidizing the costs of solar energy.

Data presented through research should not countermand people's common sense: drilling holes in the ocean floor for the construction of massive structures will have serious negative ramifications.

For the millions that love and visit our state's pristine beaches, do we have to say: "Enjoy the view while it lasts."

Like residents across the state, we are alarmed by the number of dead whales, dolphins and marine life washing ashore or being found in the water.

It is understandable that concerned residents would direct their focus on the debate as to whether sonar being used to map the ocean floor for wind turbine projects is the cause for the deaths.

Ultimately though, the most effective approach to achieve the goal of protecting marine life in our ocean is to outright oppose the ocean wind turbine projects.

Appropriately, we must emphasize that this testimony represents the principled stance and interests of many of our constituents for whom this issue is emotional on several levels.

It is our sincere hope that the testimony offered during this hearing proves to be a compelling effort to stop the construction of ocean wind turbines and, thereby, protecting our ocean and marine wildlife.

What Berkeley Seniors Should Know About Lyme Disease

By Eric San Juan

For seniors, Lyme Disease is a real threat, and one that should not be taken lightly. Statistics show that every year over 300,000 people in the U.S. are diagnosed with Lyme Disease, with New Jersey being one of the nation's hotspots.

Thankfully, it's possible to minimize your risk of exposure, and of its worst effects.

Lyme Disease is a bacterial infection typically spread by ticks. These insects become infected when they feed on an animal that has the disease, and then pass it to humans through their bite. Deer, mice, and birds are the most common animal carriers.

In New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut, more than 50 percent of Lyme Disease cases occur in people aged 65 years or older. This is because they tend to spend more time outside in nature, which increases the chances of being bitten by an infected tick.

Though most cases are not serious, when left untreated, Lyme Disease can have serious complications, especially for older Americans. Symptoms may include fever, fatigue, joint pain and swelling, facial paralysis (Bell's palsy), and even inflammation of the brain or spinal cord.

Keep in mind that bites do not instantly transfer the disease.

"Blacklegged ticks, also known as deer ticks, need to be attached for at least 24 hours before they can transmit Lyme disease," said Daniel Regenye, Ocean County Health Department Public Health Coordinator/Health Officer. "This is why it's so important to remove them as soon as possible and to check your body daily for ticks if you enjoy spending time in your yard, garden, hiking or recreating in wooded, brushy and tall grass areas. Don't forget pets should also be examined for ticks."

Signs to look for to determine if you may have been infected include a rash or bull's-eye shaped rash near the site of the tick bite; muscle and joint aches; chills and fever; headaches and fatigue; swollen lymph nodes; and loss of appetite.

"If you suspect you've been bitten by a tick and develop any symptoms don't hesitate to contact your health care provider," said Regenye. "Patients treated with antibiotics in the early stages of the infection usually recover rapidly and completely. Most patients who are treated in later stages of the disease also respond well to antibiotics, although some may have suffered long-term damage to the nervous system or joints."

Fortunately, there are steps Berkeley seniors can take to protect themselves. First, perform regular tick checks on yourself or your family members after spending time outside in grassy or wooded areas, when out in the garden, playing golf, and other outdoor activities. You can identify the most common carriers of the disease, deer ticks, by their size and shape. They appear as a small, reddish dark-brown dot, sometimes no bigger than a pen tip.

In the Pine Barrens, deer ticks often hang on low underbrush and tall grass, attaching themselves to you when you brush past. That's why it's always important to wear light-colored clothing when outside to make ticks easier to see, tuck your pants into your socks when in wooded areas or areas with tall grass to make it harder for them to crawl to exposed skin, use insect repellent that contains DEET, and check yourself thoroughly for ticks once you come back inside.

"The nice weather is here and people are looking forward to getting outdoors," said Ocean County Commissioner Gary Quinn. "But before heading out just remember to protect yourself ... Following these simple tips will allow you and your family to have a happy and healthy summer outdoors."

The Career You Want Your Grandkids to Have

Why are the trades so frowned upon? How can a job that is so needed and can make everyone's lives so much better with every interaction be the last option to a career path? Did you know "The Plumber Protects the Health of the Nation"?

We are the first line of defense against sickness. Entire civilizations have been wiped out due to poor plumbing practices. I mean, have you ever had a broken water heater or main drain clog and not been able to flush your toilets? If the answer is yes, then you probably have a new respect for the plumbing trade.

So why become a plumber? For me, I love solving problems as well as the feeling of accomplishment and gratitude from satisfied clients. I am grateful that this career has allowed me to make a wonderful living and the ability to give my family most anything they have ever needed. I enjoy working with my hands and teaching the younger generations.

But why would you tell your grandkids to become plumbers?? I can only share with you what we provide for our wonderful plumbers. Our employees are like family to us, so we give them everything that we would want our children to get from their careers. We give above industry pay. We cover 70% of their insurance including health, eye, and dental. They get a week paid vacation that is separate from their forty hours a year of sick time after working here for one year and two weeks after three years. We offer a gym and Costco membership as well as 25k worth of life insurance and we match 3% of their 401k. We have company fishing outings, breakfasts, and barbeques. All our plumbers get fully stocked vans with great racking systems for efficiency to drive back and forth to work. Everyone gets on going technical training. We always have an apprentice with our plumbers to help make their jobs easier and get done faster while allowing hands on training on the job. We also put everyone through school so they can acquire their plumbing license. We provide state of the art tools and equipment and more!!!

So why wouldn't someone want to be a plumber? It is hard work, but I personally believe the rewards outweigh the latter. So, if you know a young human looking for a great career path, show them this article and have them apply to MyGuy Plumbing or another great plumbing company. I promise they won't be disappointed.

HONESTY - INTEGRITY - EFFICIENCY - FAMILY

Who's your guy??

Sincerely your guy,

Ryan Matthews, CEO
